Subject: 2012 Florida General Election polling results of early voters for U.S. Congressional races

Date: November 3, 2012

Executive Summary:

This poll of Florida early voters was conducted on Friday, November 2, 2012. This poll used the early voter lists supplied by the state of Florida through October 31st, 2012. The sample of voters that were called included random samples of early voters in three Congressional district in the state of Florida.

The races surveyed included: U.S. Congressional races in districts 18, 22 and 26.

Methodology:

The poll was conducted by an automated phone call polling system. The poll was conducted in English, except for the 26th district where the poll was conducted in both English and Spanish. The results were then weighted to account for proportional differences between the respondents' demographics and the demographics of the total registered voter population within each Congressional district polled. The demographics used were: political party, race and age.

The early voters polled were chosen at random proportionally within each of the Congressional districts polled.

In order to qualify respondents as early voters, the only voters called were on the list of voters that had turned in their ballots as reported by the state of Florida by October 31st. They were then asked on the phone call if they had already turned in their ballot for the November 6th general election. Only if they responded that they had turned their ballot in were they then asked the other questions in this poll.

The scientific results shown in the summary below have their sample size and margin of error shown above each of the results.
